

5.0MM & 7.0MM BEAVERTAIL 2 PIECE WETSUIT

The traditional Beavertail Jacket and Farmer John long wetsuit is a 2-piece system that divers have trusted for decades. Supplied to the army, engineers and military worldwide the complete system gives users the maximum warmth of two layers of neoprene around the torso and one layer over the arms and legs for greater flexibility of movement.

The step-in jacket covers the arms and torso with a beavertail flap that passes through the crotch and fastens to the front. This has been a popular combination as it offers freedom of movement for the legs, and the beavertail helps minimize water flushing and prevents the jacket from riding up on the torso. The jacket also features an attached hood that helps prevent water from entering down the back of the neck.

The classic Farmer John wetsuit is a one-piece sleeveless suit that covers the legs and torso, made with flexible Kevlar® knees for ease of movement. All seams are glued and blind stitched for durability.

This suit recreates a timeless classic and is available in both 5.0mm and 7.0mm thicknesses. Additional printing of logos or reflective are available upon request. All Northern Diver wetsuits can be modified to a customer's bespoke needs, adding additional pockets, Kevlar® panels, protective pads etc. You must contact the team to discuss this in more detail.

The retro Beavertail jacket is the perfect partner to the long john for a versatile setup that will work in any conditions.
